Subject objectives	During the course students will look at different issues concerning communication with regard to cultural diversity: national and cultural differences and norms and how they affect our functioning in different cross-cultural situations. What can become more visible when different cultures meet are communication problems. We will also focus on contact with cultural diversity and analyze the mechanisms of perception, evaluation of self and others as well as behaviours that occur during cross-cultural interactions. In addition, each participant will have the opportunity to look at their beliefs and reactions in relation to people who are different from himself/herself. Students will have the opportunity to develop practical skills to cope with a conflict situation from the perspective of different cultures.
