Subject objectives	The aim of the course is to prepare students for the independent development of a diploma thesis of a scientific or practical nature, involving the analysis of a selected problem in the field of tax law, finance or accounting. Students develop the ability to formulate research questions, apply appropriate analytical methods and present results that are substantively and formally correct. The course also aims to enhance critical thinking, independent research and evaluation of sources, as well as the ability to engage in creative academic discussion.

Learning outcomes	Course outcome	Subject outcome	Method of verification
	[PiDPMU2_KK01] understands the complexity of problems occurring in the field of public levies law, finance and accounting and related disciplines and is therefore ready to critically evaluate the knowledge acquired in this area and the received content, understands the importance of knowledge in solving cognitive and practical problems and - in the event of difficulties with solving them independently problem - seeking the opinion of experts dealing with public levies law, finance, accounting and related disciplines (especially scientists, experienced tax advisors, accountants, lawyers dealing with disciplines other than tax and accounting law), and, if necessary, also expert specialists in disciplines other than legal and economic sciences	The student understands the complexity of issues arising in the field of public levy law, finance and accounting as well as related disciplines, is ready to critically evaluate their own knowledge and the information received, and recognises the importance of knowledge in solving cognitive and practical problems. In case of difficulty in solving a problem independently, the student is able to consult experts in public levy law, finance, accounting and related disciplines (including scholars, experienced tax advisors, accountants and lawyers from other fields) and, if necessary, qualified specialists from outside the legal and economic sciences. The student follows the principles of professional and academic ethics in both research and practice.	[SK1] wypowiedź ustna/rozmowa/dyskusja [SK3] opracowanie tekstowe/praca pisemna
	[PiDPMU2_UW02] is able to formulate and test hypotheses related to simple research problems regarding the application of public levies law, tax analysis or accounting	The student is able to formulate and test hypotheses related to research problems concerning the application of public levy law, tax analysis or accounting. The student can justify the selection of appropriate research methods and analytical tools and interpret the research results in the context of existing legal regulations and professional ethics.
