Subject objectives	General objective: To familiarize the audience with the history of the musical a native American theatre genre. Specific objectives: To familiarize the audience with the origins, fate and structure of the genre and the ways of including music in the dramatic action of musical performances. The course also aims to draw attention to the process of a clear departure in the musical from light, easy and pleasant topics towards current social problems. The musical will be treated here as a cultural text that can carry an important message. The classes will include multimedia presentations and fragments of music and film recordings. The primary objective is to expand basic knowledge about the musical. Thanks to an in-depth analysis of the history and development of the genre, the audience will acquire knowledge about the subsequent stages of the creation of the musical, will be able to define and interpret this genre its structure and characteristics. During the classes, they will analyze its development in the socio-cultural context. Participants will be able to provide a definition of the musical and distinguish its characteristic features, while being able to recognize and distinguish the specificity of productions from a selected period. They will also be able to name the most popular creators of the genre and the main works that contributed to its development.
