Subject contents	During the traineeship, the teaching and caring competences are developed through familiarisation with the specific nature of the work of the school in which the traineeship is conducted, in particular through familiarisation with the school's tasks, manner of functioning, organisation of the work of teachers and other employees, observation of the documentation maintained; observation of the activities of individual students, including students with special educational needs, activities undertaken by the traineeship supervisor and classes conducted by him/her (with particular emphasis on lessons). The apprentice cooperates with the apprenticeship supervisor in supervising the group and in conducting teaching activities. The scope of the teaching practice includes both teaching and caring competences. During the placement, the student is required to carry out the following activities: - Prepare and conduct lessons in literary, cultural and language education. - Prepare, check, review and evaluate written stylistic (homework or class) work in a selected class, as well as conduct a lesson on the improvement of this work (the practice notebook for these lessons should contain a discussion of the work, and - if possible - copies of the students' work after the improvement with a review). - Hospitalize the lessons of the supervisor, other Polish teachers, a colleague, and record the student's own comments on the teachers' and colleague's lessons viewed. The student will agree with the placement supervisor before the start of the placement each semester how the placement will be organised. The student will systematically keep a practice log during the placement
Prerequisites and co-requisites	The internship does not interfere with other activities resulting from the study plan. In-service training follows the syllabus of the first degree programme in Kashubian ethno-philology. The practical placement consists of a total of 30 hours of psychological and pedagogical practice and 120 hours of didactic practice in Kashubian language (first subject) and 90 hours in Polish language (second subject). The student is obliged to take care of properly completed and timely submission of documents related to the placement: agreement with the school, referral, insurance. Instructions for students of the Faculty of Philology can be found on the Faculty website: https://fil.ug.edu.pl/studenci/praktyki/instrukcja_postepowania. The documentation of the practice consists of: - The practice logbook containing review materials prepared by the student. - An opinion on the student's performance of the placement issued by the teacher supervisor. Upon completion of the internship, the original Internship Credit Card (documenting all hours of internship, signed by the internship supervisor) must be submitted to the Dean's Office, where it is attached to the student's file. A copy of the card can be found in the student's practice logbook (pdf).
