Subject objectives	The aim of the course is to familiarize students with the basic facts from the history of three Slavic nations in the Balkans: Bulgarians, Serbs and Croats. This is supplemented with political and historical problems that have arisen in recent years, i.e. the history of Montenegro, Macedonia and selected issues from the history of Albania and Turkey. This applies to medieval, modern and recent times. When discussing modern times and the newest of these nations, it is necessary to point out the specificity of the formation of modern nations in the Balkans and the conditions of this process.
