Subject objectives	The aim of the course is to introduce students to the basic issues related to art research by familiarising them with the fundamentals of the art historian's craft. The main objectives of the course include familiarising students with the description of a work of art and the basic methodology (in historical and contemporary terms) used to analyse and interpret it, using historical and artistic terminology. The lecture will also include an analysis of the specific characteristics of art forms other than painting and sculpture, including photography and design. The lecture also aims to provide a brief overview of the history of the discipline and to highlight the specific nature of Polish art history in a European context. The course will cover issues related to museum practice, including the circulation of objects, the research methods of museum curators and the importance of provenance research conducted in museums.
