Example issues/ example questions/ tasks being completed	Jozef K. purchased a ticket for admission to the disco under the Pear Tree. Jozef K. was severely injured with a glass during the brawl and filed a claim against the proprietor of this establishment for his failure to ensure adequate security for the establishment's customers. Unfortunately, the identity of the perpetrator could not be established. In the lawsuit, the defendant indicated that he did not commit a tort due to the lack of legal norms that would impose a duty to ensure the safety of the premises' guests from a possible fight at a disco or other special events. In addition, he questioned the causal relationship between the operation of the premises and the plaintiff's injury.1. Is the owner of the premises liable for the plaintiff's injury? If so, on what basis and under what regime?2. if the answer is yes - what claims are the plaintiff entitled to?3) From what date can the plaintiff claim interest?4. how will the statute of limitations apply to the plaintiff's claims?
